Molotov Against Small Nations Peace Parley Plan

Lois Citwood of Helmsburg, Ind., wins the "Miss Indiana of 1946" title in a contest sponsored by the Terre Haute Chamber of Commerce and will represent her state in the national beauty pageant at Atlantic City, N. J., next September.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New observed 12 tomatoes on one branch of a tomato plant in the garden of John Swan, Ellwood City road, last evening. It looks as though we are being rewarded with a large harvest, for sharing our food with the starving world.

For the convenience of motorists who have not learned the location of the new state motor police substation, state highway employees have erected a small sign on Butler avenue stating "State Police Left".

Motorists were reminded by the state revenue department that today is the last day to have vehicles inspected. The semi-annual inspection, which began May 1, will end at midnight tonight. Motorists driving without new inspection stickers will be subject to arrest.

Reports emanating from the Edenburg district, reveal that the storm of Wednesday evening, reached severe proportions in that district. The storm was accompanied by quite a deluge of hail, with the wind blowing limbs from the trees disrupting electrical service in the area. Quite a rain storm developed in the city, but little damage was done, if any.

An officer stationed at the corner of Mill and Washington streets was having a difficult time preventing motorists from making turns at the intersection Tuesday afternoon. It hardly seemed that his back was turned from warning one motorist, another on the opposite side of the street was attempting to make a turn. Beside the officer two signs are there warning against the turn.

Thursday will open the final month of vacation for the school pupils of the city. Many kids questioned by Pa New will be glad to see the day roll around, but others are very reluctant to see the fateful day come when they will have to don school clothes and put swimming suits away for another year.

Panhandlers are a nuisance and they come in assorted types. There is the one who asks, "Spare a dime, mister?" and the one whose query is, "Buy me a meal, sir?" Then there are those who sit with a cup and sing and sell pencils. Pa New (Continued on Page Two)

Coffee Denies He Took $2,500 For 'Services'

Senate Probers To Inquire If Justice Department Exonerated Him

SOMERVELL FAILS TO RECALL CASE

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Assistant Attorney General James P. McGraney was summoned to tell the Mead committee today whether the justice department gave Rep. John M. Coffee (D) Wash., a "clean bill of health" on his receipt of $2,500 from a constituent contractor.

Coffee and Paul A. Olson, the congressman's 1941 secretary, were scheduled to precede McGraney to the witness stand.

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., said he wanted to know if it was true the justice department had exonerated Coffee of any wrong-doing—and if so, on what grounds.

Coffee flatly denied testimony of Elvind Anderson, Tacoma, Wash., contractor, that he promised to "take care" of Anderson's interests in the national capital in return for a $2,500 payment.

The house Democrat, questioned about a conversation he and Olson had with Anderson in what the contractor called a "lonesome place" in the capitol, told the committee: "There was never any discussion (Continued On Page Twelve)

British Troops Resume Search In Jewish City

JERUSALEM, July 31.—(INS)—Twenty thousand battle-armed British troops and Palestine police, under orders to shoot curfew violators "on sight", resumed sifting the all-Jewish city and Tel-Aviv today for the perpetrators of the King David hotel bombing.

Tel-Aviv, its Hebrew newspapers suspended, business at a standstill and its 200,000 inhabitants confined to house arrest for 22 hours daily, lay paralyzed as the grim forces renewed the house-to-house search.

A communique issued in Jerusalem said 143 Jews, including 10 girls and women and several boys, were taken in custody. The men were taken to the Rafa detention camp for further questioning, the women to the Latrun camp.

Stone Throwing Episodes
The searching operation, one of the most gigantic ever undertaken anywhere in the world, was opposed only by several stone throwing incidents. The communique said there were no casualties.

The grimly vengeful troops of the Sixth Airborne and First Infantry divisions—aided by 600 police—were thus answering the blasting of the government's headquarters in the King David hotel last week which took more than 100 lives.

The quarantine and search program, ordered by Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner of Palestine, was expected to last at least three more days. Officers estimated that the screening would result in the detention of an estimated 2,000 inhabitants.

(BULLETIN)
NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—A Coast Guard plane raced north today on the first leg of a 1,300-mile flight to carry preventive drugs over the Atlantic to a troop transport on which one soldier already was dead in an apparent epidemic of diphtheria.

The stricken ship was the U. S. S. Colby Victory which, while bound from New York to Europe, radioed for aid from a position 550 miles off Newfoundland.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—A coast guard air-sea rescue plane took off from New York today with anti-toxin urgently required to combat an outbreak of diphtheria aboard the troop transport Colby Victory, now 1,300 miles off the east coast.

Coast guard officials said the ship radioed a request for 20,000 units of the serum and doctors said the amount asked indicated several cases among the ship's passengers.

Meanwhile, the new price decontrol board was settling down to work on its task of deciding whether price controls should be restored August 20 on meat, dairy products and other commodities.

The board, which was sworn in Tuesday by Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black, will meet this morning. Board Chairman Roy L. Thompson, president of the New Orleans (Continued on Page Two)

Kills Estranged Wife; Wounds Four; Shot By Officer

Shooting Tragedy Is Reported From Memphis, Tenn.; Husband Goes Berserk

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 31.—(INS)—Robert Horner, 40, a barber who killed his estranged wife and wounded four other women with shot gun blasts in a Memphis department store, was reported near death today from bullet wounds inflicted by a policeman.

Horner walked into the store's restaurant yesterday, began quarreling with his wife, Gerry, 35, a waitress, then fired at her with a shot gun he had brought with him. She dodged behind a counter and the shot missed her but wounded a woman customer. Horner then fired a second blast, killing his wife and wounding three other women.

Women ran from the store screaming. Traffic Policeman C. R. Love, stationed outside, dashed into the store and was ordered by Horner to "get out".

Love jumped behind a post and began shooting at the berserk husband with his revolver. Horner fired his shot gun at the policeman, but was felled by three bullets.

The wounded women, Mrs. J. J. Boon, Mrs. Mabel Talley, Mrs. Richard Stokes and Louise Lamb, were reported in a fair condition at a Memphis hospital.

Near Cloudburst Ends Long Drought

Almost Two Inches Of Rain Falls Here Tuesday Evening To Reverse Sun-Baked Gardens

New Castle truck gardeners who have been praying for rain for over a month, had their prayers answered Tuesday evening when a near cloudburst occurred, a total of 1.63 inches of rain falling within an hour and effectively ending the long dry spell.

It is true that a fair rain occurred about a week ago, but the hot sun seemed to dry up the moisture in a day or two, and gardens and lawns were again drying up under the hot rays of the sun.

Last night's rain was worth thousands of dollars to gardeners.

Stepfather Killed By Invalid Girl

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 31.—(INS)—The story of how pretty, blonde Jacqueline Colburn, 19, rheumatic fever victim and wheel chair invalid since she was four years old, shot and killed her stepfather to death was revealed today by Coroner W. L. Drago.

Drago said the girl told him her stepfather, Lawrence Barregeary, 36, came into their home last night and accused her of "snooping" through his private papers and opening his mail.

The coroner quoted Miss Colburn as saying she killed Barregeary after he advanced "threateningly" toward her.

Then she crawled back into the wheel chair from which she said she had been dragged, propelled it to the telephone and asked the operator to call the police. When she was connected, she said: "Please come quickly. I've just killed my father."

Her mother, Mrs. Loretta Barregeary, and her other three children—one by her first husband and two by Barregeary—were at a show when the tragedy occurred. They arrived while police were in the home.

Russians Release American Officers

BERLIN, July 31.—(INS)—Two American officers who disappeared in the Russian zone July 4 said today they had been kept in Soviet custody despite Russian insistence that they had no knowledge of them until their release last night.

The officers, Capt. Harold Cobin of Newark, N. J., and Lt. George Wyatt of Oklahoma City, said at no time were they mistreated by the Russians although the conditions of their confinement left a great deal to be desired.

They told their story to newsmen after a private conference with Maj. Gen. Walter A. Keating, American military commander in Berlin.

The two men, who disappeared during an unauthorized sightseeing trip, said they were held in separate rooms and did not see each other until their release.

Cobin, who was born in Lithuania and speaks Russian fluently, said he was interrogated at length in the (Continued on Page Two)

Soviet Foreign Minister Gives Views To Parley

Flat Disapproval Expressed By Russian Leader On Simple Majority Vote

AUSTRALIAN LEADS SMALL NATIONS MOVE

By PIERRE J. HUSS (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 31.—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of the Soviet Union made his bow before the Paris peace conference today with a flat disapproval of small nation plans to achieve all decisions by rule of a simple majority vote.

Molotov charged that such procedure would tend to discredit the conference and the decisions it adopts and he used the phrase "a play on votes" to describe the process favored so strenuously by Australian External Affairs Minister Herbert V. Evatt.

Byrnes' Stand
United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes already has argued in favor of the peace conference overruling all previous big four decisions if a two-thirds majority is voted. But Byrnes also has indicated approval of a simple majority procedure in all committee decisions.

Molotov criticized Evatt for "speculating and guessing" that the conference might make no definite recommendations. He added: "It is strange indeed to hear the argument that 11 votes against 10 (a hypothetical simple majority) are better than 14 against seven."

The Soviet delegation feels that more weight is attached to a qualified majority than to a simple majority.

"I am confident I will not be alone in this question. I am hopeful I am expressing the common views of the British, United States and French delegations when I say the voting procedure should be on the basis of the (four foreign ministers) council's recommendations."

Molotov, dressed in a blue suit, talked quietly with his hands alternately behind his back and gestulating oratorically.

Rescue 1,000 From Burning Liner At Sea

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 31.—(INS)—More than 1,000 passengers were rescued today by a British vessel from the flaming Brazilian liner Duque de Caxias which caught fire yesterday 100 miles off Cabo Frio, north of Rio de Janeiro.

The liner, which left for Portugal last night, carried some 1,100 passengers for various European destinations. Many of these waited five years for the war's end in order to return to their homes, officials said.

The Brazilian navy rushed planes and four destroyers to the aid of the stricken liner, while two British ships and one North American vessel answered its SOS.

Island Garrisons In Pacific Will Be Much Reduced

KWAJALEIN, July 31.—(INS)—A navy spokesman said today that sharp reductions in Marshall island garrisons at Kwajalein and Eniwetok will be effected within the next ten days.

It was said that the islands which played key parts in the Bikini atomic bomb tests will now release to "peacetime status" under the command of Commodore Ben Wyatt, navy commander of the Marshall island area.

The Kwajalein garrison will be slashed from nearly 3,000 men to less than 600. The garrison on Eniwetok on which radio-controlled drones were based for the Bikini tests, will be cut from a war-time high of 13,000 to only 100 men.

Capt. William Mullins, commander of Eniwetok, said full airdrome and communications facilities will be maintained in order to protect planes flying from the Marshalls to Guam.

A long, brisk walk in a wooded glen, or a hike to a mountain peak, or a stroll by a lake or an ocean spot where the sandspits twitter and squeak. Most any old place is right for a hike, mountain or meadow or shore, on a day like this when it's just about right with the weather at seventy-four. Away with your cars and your bikes and such, your legs are the thing to use, and the way you go or the spot you seek is all up to you to choose.

New Wonder Drug Streptomycin Has Saved Many Lives

New Drug Used Effectively In Combating Of Influenza Meningitis

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—(INS)—Several babies and children were alive in Oregon today because they were used as "guinea pigs" to test a new wonder drug, streptomycin. The children, stricken by influenza meningitis, were given the drug by injection into the muscles. The supply of streptomycin is so small that its use is limited to clinical trial under strict regulations. The amount sent to Portland was allotted to help determine the effectiveness of the drug in fighting infections on which sulfa drugs, penicillin and other therapeutic agents cannot be used. The new drug also has been used in some operations on kidney infections of kinds on which formerly operations could not be performed.

RUSSIANS RELEASE AMERICAN OFFICERS

Russian language. Cobin said he lost eight pounds during his imprisonment, shaved once and was permitted one bath.

Case Being Investigated

Gen. Keating said that the case is being investigated with a view to taking disciplinary action against the two officers. Cobin, who did most of the talking, said they were picked up by the Russians at the gate of the Sachsenhausen concentration camp which they had wanted to inspect. It was recalled that as recently as July 21 Gen. Joseph T. McNarney told a Berlin news conference: "A very high senior Russian officer has assured me the two officers are not in their custody."

Gen. McNarney, commander of American ground forces in the European theater, added that he accepted that word at face value. Cobin, a New York automobile dealer before the war, said he was questioned repeatedly and charged with being a spy.

On "Sightseeing Trip"

The two men said they went to Oranienburg in an attempt to visit the concentration camp. They added they had made "sightseeing trips" two or three times before to Potsdam, also in the Russian zone, and they thought they might get through the Russian lines without a pass. They managed to reach the camp's gate on the afternoon of July 4 but were denied admittance.

The officers said they decided then to return to Berlin but were stopped by two Russian officers who invited them to go to the Kommandatura to "register as American visitors to the Russian zone."

They said they were held in the Kommandatura the rest of the day while they were asked routine questions. Then, they added, they were removed in a blacked-out car to Potsdam and held there until their release.

"So I pulled the gun mother bought and gave to me last Saturday for protection against father, who had been quarrelsome. I fired one shot."

O. P. A. PREPARES TO BOOST PRICES

Federal Land Bank, said that the group would iron out preliminary details such as personnel and organization at today's session. In addition to Thompson, members of the board are Daniel W. Bell, former undersecretary of the treasury, and George H. Mead, Dayton, Ohio, industrialist.

Thompson said that it would be at least a week or ten days before the board would take action. He did not indicate what steps the group would take first.

Decision on Price Boosts

The OPA decision to boost textile prices an average of 16 per cent was reached after a two-day meeting between the agency and industry representatives. The industry spokesman had demanded a 20 per cent increase. OPA, which is required under the new price control act to re-price cotton textiles, first offered a 14 per cent boost.

An OPA official said that the textile price increase would be announced within the next few days. Another OPA official revealed that the agency had set a price of 22 cents for a pound of cotton. He pointed out that OPA was planning a four to five cents a pound boost when price controls expired June 30, and that probably elimination of the subsidy on coffee would mean an additional four or five cent a pound price jump.

The official said that prices for No. 2 (popular size) cans of tomatoes, corn and peas probably would be raised one or two cents. He explained that this increase would result from discontinuance of the subsidy on these commodities. He said that the breakfast cereal price hike would be authorized to offset higher production costs, and that bread, flour and bakery products also probably would be boosted in the face of rising grain prices.

McIlvaine was pastor there and to the late pastor Dr. Leitch gave much of the credit for his entering the ministry.

Guard of Honor Members of the session of First Presbyterian church acted as a guard of honor during the service, the trustees served as honorary pallbearers, and the deacons served as ushers. The church quartet sang several numbers with Garth Edmondson at the organ.

It was a service of sorrow, the last tribute of respect possible to a man whose brilliant career in the church was called off suddenly by the Master of all good workmen. Draping the casket at the altar of the church was the American flag, the flag Rev. McIlvaine served in World War One at the front in France.

Rev. McIlvaine died suddenly Sunday night, July 28, when he was seized with a heart attack in his Fairfield avenue home. Early today the body was taken from the church he served and taken to New Concord, O., where the committal service was held.

PA NEW OBSERVES

saw an addition to this array on Washington street today. This one would walk up to a prospect, tip his hat and shove his hand, palm up, into their face, without a word. Guess New Castle people aren't generous, for Pa New didn't see this system work, out of a number of tries.

In checking over the calendar, Pa New discovers that there are only 122 shopping days left until Christmas. Perhaps it would be wise to begin shopping for many of those hard to get items now, as it may be Christmas before they come from the factory. White shirts for instance.

Numerous motorists driving about the city are seen with large cakes of ice resting on the car bumpers. By the time most of them get through the downtown traffic, stopping for lights, etc., the cake is considerably reduced in size before it reaches the family ice box.

Motorists, these days, in the downtown section of the city, seem to have little difficulty in parking their car whether it be long or short. With the installation of the new parking meters, much more space has been left, so that when the newer, longer models come out, parking worries will be reduced to a minimum.

Many of the streets in the city have direct opposites, Pa New has found in thumbing through a city directory. Long avenue is familiar, but few people know there is a Short street in the city. Then there is North street and South street, East street and West avenue, Glass street, Cliff street and Valley street; other interesting streets include Good avenue, Motor street, Power street, Rabbit street, Service street, Sheets street, Slate street, Valentine street and even Walls street.

Heavy rainstorms that struck New Castle on Tuesday evening, apparently largely local. Over around the Ohio state line, to the west of the city, there was no rain at that time, Pa New is told. There is one auto driver in this city that should be hunted down, and penalized. According to reports to Pa New the driver recently drove down Delaware avenue, near Garfield avenue, and during the trip threw two pop bottles out into the street, and went on without stopping. The bottles broke all over the carway, and if it hadn't been for the work of residents of the district in sweeping up the broken glass, a large number of auto tires would have been ruined for other drivers.

able whether the ship, bound for England, was transporting troops or families of army personnel. Approximately 20,000 units of the anti-toxin obtained from a marine hospital, Staten Island, was rushed to Floyd Bennett field, under police escort a few minutes before the big PBV plane took off.

Other supplies of the serum meanwhile were being gathered from hospitals in Boston, to be picked up by the plane when it lands at Salem, Mass., for refueling.

Harold Ward of the criminal court for arraignment on indictments charging him with the Degnan and Brown murders. This formality was continued until August 14.

On that same date Heirens must also answer to indictments accusing him of 29 burglaries and four assaults with intent to kill. Tuohy greeted Heirens' refusal to substantiate the youth's previous statement of facts to his own attorneys on the murders and burglaries with the terse words: "I will go right ahead with the case."

Heirens' attorneys indicated they were puzzled by his attitude. Mal Cochran, one of the defense counsel, said: "I was amazed. I'm going back to the peace and quietude of my office."

Heirens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Heirens, shared the general bewilderment at their son's refusal to make a statement which might have brought him a life sentence instead of risk being convicted by a jury and getting a death sentence.

RENTS WASHING MACHINES TO DO FAMILY LAUNDRY

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—At the lift of a finger Pittsburgh housewives can now get 10 pounds of soiled clothes washed, rinsed and partially dried for 25 cents.

Of course, there is a catch to it—the missus has to carry the clothing to one of a series of recently installed "laundrettes" in Pittsburgh.

F. H. Collins, operator of the self-service laundry, has installed 21 washing machines in his "store" and today is doing a rushing business. He plans to install several others.

For the 25 cents the housewife may use the machine, soap powder, water and the rinsing and drying machine.

The Central Crime

Maj. H. R. Trevor-Roper, British expert on the Nazi party and its inner workings, wrote recently that one of the characteristics of the Germans as a people is a despair of rational politics and a reliance on pure force. The deeds of men of blood and iron like Bismarck and Frederick the Great have helped persuade the Germans that whatever reason may do for other peoples, only force will succeed for them. The doctrine of conquest was ingrained in the Reich before nazism, which was only its latest manifestation, appeared in the land.

The Kaiser failed to conquer and was forsaken by his subjects. Although just as guilty as the Nazi leaders now on trial, he never was tried. Neither were any of the other German leaders of World War I, and Germans therefore suffered no guilt-fixation in connection with their failure. Consequently, they eagerly followed the new robber baron, Hitler, and his gang. These also failed to conquer, but fell only after they had wrecked a continent and impoverished the world.

Their trial before a world tribunal for making a war of assault on peaceful peoples and for the commission of monstrous crimes in the warring thereof is now in its final stage. Its conduct and its verdict are designed to be an example and a deterrent to the people of Germany. The record at Nuremberg is to stand as a case history to which international courts can point when dealing with future threats to peace from any source in the world.

Most of the defendants almost eagerly admitted the roles they played before and during the war, but the very naïveté of their almost unanimous defense that "nobody knew anything about what was going on," gives substance to Justice Jackson's accusation that the Nazi chieftains were animated by a common objective to reshape the map of Europe by force of arms. The evidence of these men's guilt in the atrocities which they countenanced in their conspiracy remains to be summed up by the other Allied prosecutors and by the inevitable verdict of history.

But these were only the means to an end that in itself was the most shocking crime. Their guilt is not so much in what they did as in what they sought to do. That they failed in no way lessens that guilt.

We Are All Investors

In a recent editorial, the Saturday Evening Post discussed the "war against saving," caused by the steady decline in return on invested capital, and the enormous increase in taxes on earnings. In conclusion, it said: "If the war against saving is carried much further, our users of capital will be driven to government lending agencies, with the inevitable evils that arise when investment is made, not to produce, a profit, but to augment political power. . . . For the 'Little People' the prospect would be much as the London Sunday Times lately stated: 'The worker will face a single vast monopolist employer—the State—whom he can neither emulate nor fight.'"

"Most of these evils can be avoided if the so-called Common Man will consult his own interest instead of letting demagogues and executive secretaries of leftist committees define it for him. If he did that, he might even champion the right of the investor to his just share of the pie, if only on the ground that, when you come down to earth, we are all investors."

Government domination of industry, like government ownership of industry, is the sure and inevitable road to Statism. That is why we must keep private enterprise alive—and to keep it alive we must allow it adequate earnings on the people's savings it represents.

The Price Trend

It is worth noting that the first action taken by the revived OPA was to raise the price ceiling on coal, shoes, building materials and a stream of other items. And the significant feature of these increases in basic cost-of-living commodities is that they can not be attributed to what Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, calls the "legalized inflation" of the new price control law or to the lapse of controls during the first three weeks of July. These were increases that were in the mill at the time OPA was suspended, increases made necessary by the basic causes that existed prior to July 1.

That proves the point, stressed repeatedly, that prices would have to go up whether OPA was or was not restored. Before the OPA was permitted to lapse prices were edging up slowly but surely. That trend would have continued until the wage line, broken by Reuther and his colleagues, and the price line, which reflects the wage costs of production, were again in balance and until the inflationary fiscal policies of the government—deficit spending, an unbalanced budget and increases in the supply of currency and credit in circulation—were checked.

It will be the strategy of the administration now to blame Congress for any price increases in the future, because OPA was not extended without change. But price increases had to come, and the responsibility rests squarely on the administration's wrong guess that this year would produce a period of unemployment and deflation.

Flickering Love

In view of the rather rough going-over given these sometimes United States recently by Ilya Ehrenburg, the Soviet journalist-propagandist who was impressed by Lions club members who would roar upon command, it is refreshing for Americans to read what another Russian writer has to say of his own people. A chap by the name of Yur Chaplygin, a name for the proffreader to reckon with, complained the other day in Komenskol Pravda that Russian males were peculiarly "uncultured" in matters of the heart.

As an example, he cited a potentially successful romance which was shattered by a heavy-handed wooer. Once this uncouth Russian almost knocked his willing sweetheart beneath a trolley in his haste to get aboard himself, and upon their next date he wouldn't allow her to sit down in her own seat at a concert. Obviously, such conduct would put quite a burden on any romance, here or in the Soviet.

It did on this one, and the whole thing broke up when he dragged her by the arm on to a dance floor. "Just as an unskilled militiaman would drag a rioter or criminal to a police station," Chaplygin thereupon recorded for his anxious readers that "the love in her heart flickered out forever."

It is, of course, no wonder that even a Soviet writer should be alarmed by such matters, for any flickering out of love, whether it be on a Moscow dance floor or in a mundane sitting room in this capitalistic country, is a tragedy to be bemoaned by all. Love—real love—was never meant to flicker out.

According to reports from many vacation spots a sign, "Stop! Have you anything left?" should be hung inside the front door.

Must Keep Perspective On Peace Conference

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In order to put the Paris peace conference in proper perspective, it is only necessary to look at what is happening in the rest of the world. Against that background, it is seen to be a sideshow and a minor sideshow at that.

In vast areas of Asia, the smoldering fires of civil war are about to break forth. Government and Communist forces in China are locked in what may become a prolonged conflict, with unmitigated cruelty and terror practiced by both sides. Recent dispatches from China reflect a tone of hopelessness and despair.

In Indonesia, the outlook is for a new flare-up of violence. The Dutch have shown no capacity for coming to terms with the native leaders. They are apparently still living under the illusions of a past that is gone forever.

Two Danger Spots
In the Middle East, two danger spots have brought the conflicts of that troubled region to a focus. One is Palestine the other is Iran. The meaning here is unmistakably clear. Change is irresistible on the way and the only question is how it is to come.

On the very doorstep of the peace conference, the problem of Germany and Austria will not be ignored. It is central to the reconstruction of Europe. The present four-way division in the conquered Reich is intolerable, inducing a new alignment for another total war.

Seen against the glare of this background, agreements on peace treaties for five small European states has an almost ludicrous air of unimportance. To be sure, this is a beginning. There is the hope that what is done in Paris will stand as a precedent in the settlement of the larger issues.

Our Perspective
But this is a perspective and remember that it is a sideshow, the meeting in Paris may produce the kind of illusion that we need most to guard against at this time. It is the illusion that names fixed to a piece of paper can guarantee the kind of world we want.

The Soviets are geared to exploit the unrest that is a life in the Middle East and in Asia. From time to time, we get glimpses of the way in which Russia constantly plans to profit from the world's miseries and discontents.

In Iran, for example, the Russians operate through puppet political parties. And these parties have no difficulty in getting much support in a country where millions live in primitive poverty and where a very small and corrupt elite hoards the nation's oil resources for bribes and promises of foreign military assistance.

At the same time, Russia is equipped as we are to bargain at the peace table. Her bargainers are bold and ruthless, aided by a cynical disregard for what has been done and said in the past.

Angry Clashes Sure
We will get extensive reports out of the conference. There will be a counter-revolution. Even with the fiery French, British and absent, there will be angry clashes. Momentary triumphs, temporary defeats, all elaborately reported for the American public.

The end result may be satisfactory to the members of our delegation. They may put their signatures to the treaties with a good conscience. But during all this time, all the speeches, all the headlines, Russia will have been advancing her interests in every part of the world.

Just here is our weakness. We are not equipped to take advantage of the economic bargaining power that goes with our great productive machine. Our reliance is almost wholly on the words of treaties. The rulers of the Kremlin will enter the Paris game with cynical realism.

At the very time that they are preparing to come to terms on so-called peace treaties, they are pushing the condition of their own defeated nations. Hungary has been deliberately despoiled. Rumania has been brought under financial and industrial domination. If the Russian demand for reparations from Italian production is satisfied, that unhappy country will be pushed closer to utter ruin.

Every American will be wishing for Secretary of State James E. Byrnes the highest measure of success. But we ought to know the meaning of "success." The treaty of Versailles was signed in the hall of mirrors. As it turned out, the whole thing was done with mirrors. This time we must look behind the curtain to the reality.

Andy says all he is accused of is trying to expedite war production. . . . He evidently hasn't been getting complete copies of the papers. Nowhere in his letter to the home folks did Andy tell what the bride wore. . . . Probably an oversight.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I have just lost a reader, in Portersville, Pa.
His name is Mr. Anonymous.
He tells me my column "stinks."

He says: "Brother, you weren't raised. You just grew up."

"Too bad you didn't get poisoned, but then folks like you never die."

"In my opinion you are just a hoodlum."

"You probably think you are quite an individual. You are more than that. You are a character."

Of course, the fellow didn't sign his name to the letter. Cowards who write anonymous letters never do. They use the postage stamp as a shield behind which to hide.

And they are just about big enough to hide behind a postage stamp.

Now what do you think brought on that poisonous letter?

A recent column of mine in which I admitted that I am only human and that I, like most of us, have broken many laws.

Of course I know that my lost reader in Portersville never broke a law. I know that he is the perfect specimen of humankind.

I, for one, am humble enough to admit that I have made many mistakes, and I am human enough to forgive those who have erred.

This very morning when I received that letter I read about a professor in Chicago who had just written a book entitled "Apes, Gnomes and Man."

In that book he tells of recent discoveries of a fossilized giant human jawbone.

That giant with the colossal jawbone, also remains anonymous, just like my reader in Portersville, and according to all indications, he belonged to the ape species, just like my reader in Portersville.

From Me To You

Had a little chat with Cecil Suber. . . . he is you know the chairman for the mayor's recreation committee. . . . it's his job to see that the three projects that were started two years ago by funds raised for the mayor's recreation committee keep going and up to date.

The excellent work accomplished by this committee and through Cecil's untiring work, cannot be measured by mere words. The Swing Lobby idea is a great one and we believe from comment by the younger set. . . . an idea they hope will not fall by the wayside. It takes a lot of work and planning to keep such projects in line and on the ball. In addition to Swing Lobby there is the skating pond in winter and the swimming pool in the creek in summer. Small entrance fees or rather usage fees are charged and these barely cover the expense of keeping attendants on the job.

That brings us to a point that we would like all those interested in keeping good entertainment for our younger set, in high gear to take notice Friday evening there will be a session of Swing Lobby at Cascade Park. . . . this is not new as it has been held there since warm weather set in. However, this Friday night is a special one in that all monies taken at the gate will be used to help finance the swimming pool. . . . which is not exactly paying its own way this summer. Why isn't the pool paying its way this summer? You know the pool is located at the end of South Mercer street in the Neshannock creek. Any one may swim free. The only charge is when clothing is checked. So many of the boys and girls dress at home that very little cash is taken in.

A life guard is on duty at all times the pool is open. . . . and in addition to the life guard a watchman is required. This takes a wee bit of cash. . . . It is the custom of the committee in charge of the projects if you like that word better. So this week it has been agreed by all concerned. . . . the working committee is composed of young people, to use the funds of Friday Swing Lobby to help support the swimming pool. . . . Make sure there is a big crowd.

"Sacred Principle" Of Collective Bargaining

WASHINGTON, July 31
THE principle of collective bargaining is one to which every enlightened employer subscribes and every labor leader and left-wing demagogue proclaims as sacred. Of course, it is not sacred but it is a sound idea and no fair-minded man wants to break it down. Distinctly it is in the national interest to guard and retain it.

That is why it is particularly shocking that there should be collusion between a labor union and any Government agency to abrogate and suspend its normal processes. Yet that is exactly what is now charged by the company in the Allis-Chalmers strike which has been going on for nearly five months and in which are involved some 29,000 men. It is a serious thing when the Government abandons its traditional role of even-handed justice, becomes the ardent partisan of either side in an industrial-labor dispute.

IT IS such a serious departure from the position which the Government is supposed to assume and so clearly in conflict with any elemental concept of fairness, that the average citizen is justified in resentment. For thirteen years under the late Mr. Roosevelt the Government weight was always on the labor side. In every dispute between industry and labor the Administration assumed the former right and the latter wrong.

THOUGH Mr. Truman felt himself obligated to adopt Mr. Roosevelt's policies, it had been hoped he would not permit the Government to be used to enforce union demands regardless of the interests of the public or the rights of the employers. Perhaps Mr. Truman does not know it. But if the Allis-Chalmers charges are true (and the facts seem to sustain them) in the current strike the Government and the union are acting together and the collective-bargaining principle is shoved aside because the unions believe they can get greater concessions through Government seizure of the plants. In this case it is the company which is urging collective bargaining and the union which is avoiding and evading it. The company offered the union the 18-cent-an-hour wage increase approved by the Government before the strike was called. It has made numerous other proposals on other issues since, but it cannot get the union to sit down "across the table" for the purposes of collective bargaining on these issues.

"THE union bosses," declares the company, "are not interested in bargaining. Instead, they stall and stall and stall, attempt to break off negotiations—stall and try to break off negotiations again. All in the hope of forcing Government seizure of our plants." In the hope of gaining from Government sources advantage they never could obtain through the lawful and fair processes of real collective bargaining. And then the company makes its direct charge: "They are abetted in this by their fellow CIO aides in the Department of Labor." In other words, former CIO officials now holding key posts in the Labor Department have steadily encouraged the unions to hold out until the President seizes the plants. Then the unions would get everything they ask, including the closed shop, which is the main point at issue now. Naturally the union leaders deny they are "stalling" and insist the company's efforts to negotiate are a "laurel pretense." However, the report that the Government was to take over has appeared in print a number of times. The company asserts that these reports were inspired by Labor Department spokesmen supposed to be acting as mediators and that they directly encourage the strikers not to bargain.

AT A White House press conference on June 14, Mr. Truman was asked about these reports and replied that seizure was not planned and he expected the company and workers to get together. Two days later another report known to have come from the Labor Department insisted that seizure would take place. Since these negotiations have been almost at a standstill, On July 19, the CIO executive board in Washington requested President Truman and the Labor Department to "take immediate steps to seize nine plants of the Allis-Chalmers company" in the interests of producing farm implements. And the Labor Department, Mr. Reuther has threatened to extend this strike to the whole farm-implement industry if the Government does not "take over."

AS YET the President has taken no action, though it is clear the Labor Department backs the CIO demands. What this all amounts to is this: Instead of adopting the prescribed method of collective bargaining, these striking unions deliberately "take over" the Government and concentrate upon forcing Government seizure of the property.

BETWEEN them, the unions and the Government make a joke of collective bargaining. Between them, they are promoting the sneaking development of nationalization which is an avowed goal of the Communists. This kind of collusion is offensive to any sense of fair play. It is degrading and un-American. It can be justified only in case of a great national emergency such as distinctly does not exist in the present strike. It is vital that the American people should understand that these professional labor bosses no longer are interested in the collective bargaining about which they have been beating their breasts so long. Nowadays their prime objective is to force government seizure. No surer way of breaking down the American system of private enterprise could be devised.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

WHAT MAKES A PERFECT PARENT

Many a mother reading advice on rearing children becomes dejected on discovering the many bad things she has done.

"I have done! And another! And one more thing! Oh, my! What a terrible parent I am!"

To this parent I should like to offer a few words of consolation. Look about you at the fine men and women you know. Enquire into their upbringing. Soon you will discover that their parents violated some of the most cherished rules and principles of child care and training which we "parent educators" promulgate.

What Does It Prove
Does your observation prove that we are wrong and that these parents were entirely right? Not at all. It does indicate that the parents of these fine adults you are thinking of, must have possessed many good parental traits, and have done many other things which not only were very good but were so good as to over-balance the bad things they did.

Anyway, many of the things we denounce as bad may not be so bad as we suppose. More and more I am coming to the conclusion that a great many of these "bad" things are chiefly bad in terms of the inconvenience they force upon us. Often, I say to a parent, "If you continue in that way, you will be in for a vast amount of trouble to yourself and your child. Here's a way that should ease your burden and make life for you and your child happier."

Place Emphasis
We must admit, too, that because we place so much emphasis on a few matters which we make so much fuss about, there is danger that we might turn our attention away from the more subtle and far-reaching matters not so easily pigeon-holed.

Theodore Roosevelt, while president of the United States, once wrote from Oyster Bay to his oldest boy at school:

"Blessed Ted. Recently I have gone to play with Archie and Quentin after they have gone to bed, and they have grown to expect me, jumping up, very soft and warm in their tommies, expecting me to roll them over on the bed, expecting me to tickle and grabble in them."

However, it has proved rather too exciting, and an edict has gone forth that hereafter I must play bear with them before supper, and give up the play when they have gone to bed."

Apparently the edict came from the mother. And the father was sensible enough to obey it. Also, the same attitude of this great man that made him tickle his little children (which we would say was very bad) made him a wondrous companion and play-fellow with them later.

Molotov Says Soviet Position Was 'Distorted'

PARIS, July 31.—(INS)—Russia threw its support behind U. S. secretary of state James F. Byrnes' campaign to throw the peace conference sessions open to the press on Tuesday.

Soviet foreign minister V. M. Molotov, speaking at the procedural committee meeting, said the Russian position on publishing of treaty drafts recently had been "distorted."

He added that, contrary to impressions abroad, the U. S. S. R. always has stood for publication of the complete drafts.

For this reason, Molotov went on, it would be best to permit the press access to all conferences in order to obtain accurate information.

Molotov's stand was regarded as clinching approval of open meetings, effective probably Wednesday.

British prime minister Clement R. Attlee and French president-foreign minister Georges Bidault were the only delegation chiefs absent from the procedural meeting. They were represented by deputies.

'He Loved It In December'

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—Under the heading "he loved it in December," Newsweek Magazine today carried the following:

"Newsweek unearthed last week this statement of Chairman Andrew J. May of the house military affairs committee in 'United States At War,' Dec. 7, 1944-Dec. 7, 1945, published by the Army and Navy Journal.

"Congress has not sought to interfere with strategy or tactics, but has kept a watchful eye on many matters involving the expenditure of large sums of money for the welfare of our inactive citizen-soldiers."

"Through what was known as the Truman committee, later the Mead committee, in the senate and the committee on military affairs of the house, investigations have been made through the war years of possible waste or other abuses that might exist here or there in the vast military establishment, and the attention of the war department and sometimes of the public has been called to conditions requiring some corrective action."

"In these respects, so in others, congress has been discharging its responsibilities to the people of the United States while affording the maximum of support to the able leaders immediately directing the war effort."

Seeking To Raise Sunken Submarine In Bikini Lagoon

BIKINI, July 31.—(INS)—Salvage crews threw themselves into a new attempt today to raise the submarine Skipjack from the floor of Bikini lagoon.

An attempt to blow out all ballast tanks on the submarine failed yesterday when equipment was dragged under the water by the drifting craft.

The Skipjack, the Pilotfish and Apogon were submerged for the July 25 underwater atom test and were all broken from their moorings by the blast and settled to the bottom of the lagoon.

The extent of damage to the Skipjack was not known, but the other two subs were written off as sunk by the blast, which also destroyed three capital ships—the Japanese battleship Nagato, the American battleship Arkansas and the carrier Saratoga.

Intense radioactivity aboard vessels still afloat prevented salvage crews from inspecting damage. Various methods have been tried to "cool off" the radioactive ships without great success.

Officers explained that fission products were rained on the target vessels by the huge water spout which hurtled skyward from the blast and that radioactive particles have been baked into the ship's surfaces by the hot Bikini sun.

Jackson-Black Feud Probe May Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—A congressional probe of the Jackson-Black feud hinged today on the possibility that Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson might renew his plea for an investigation when he returns to Washington, probably Friday.

House Judiciary Chairman Rep. Sumners (D) Tex., whose committee would conduct any investigation of the high court quarrel, declared he had not yet heard from Jackson and would make no voluntary effort to question him on his return. Sumners added, however, that if Jackson should formally request a hearing the judiciary group would afford him every opportunity to make his statement.

The veteran Texas congressman said he would not try to hold the judiciary committee in Washington for this purpose after congressional adjournment, expected Friday, but indicated he might ask the House for special permission to sit during the recess.

Jackson has maintained silence on his plans since he shocked the nation and official Washington by charging, on June 10 that Justice Hugo L. Black had refused to disqualify himself from judging a case in which his former law partner represented the winning side.

Find Woman Bound And Gagged In Home As Firemen Arrive

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—Police reported today that when firemen arrived to fight a blaze in the second-floor Brooklyn apartment of Mrs. Mary Heydrich, 85, shortly before six a. m., found the aged woman bound and gagged in the basement.

She was unconscious and suffering from cuts on the forehead. She was rushed to Kings County hospital, where her condition was reported as serious. The fire on the upper floor was quickly extinguished and caused only slight damage.

Recent use of baby development tests on infant chimpanzees showed that in general the ape baby develops at an earlier age than the human, but that human babies can sit alone sooner, probably because of differences in structure.

Probe Type Of Gas Masks Used In Fatal Blaze

Investigate Gas Masks Used In Battling Fire In San Francisco Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(INS)—An investigation was underway today to determine whether the San Francisco fire department was using the best type of gas mask when four firemen died in the acid smoke of the Herbert hotel fire yesterday.

Another inquiry was underway to establish the cause of the fire, which for the fire department was the most disastrous since the earthquake and fire of 1906.

Fire Marshal Frank Kelly said a preliminary investigation had failed to reveal the origin of the fire beyond the fact that it started in the basement of the backstage night club, located on the street level of the hotel building.

More than 200 guests fled to safety as the heavy smoke drifted through the hotel and, as a precautionary measure, 150 occupants of the adjoining Hotel Barclay were evacuated.

Hanley Is Held Without Bail In Dual Crime

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 31.—(INS)—Kenneth W. Hanley, 24, Norristown resident, was held without bail today on charges of murdering his estranged wife, Helen, 22, and John Hoffman, 26, her escort, last July 16.

Hanley was formally accused of the fatal shootings in a woods near Norristown after police abandoned attempts to get him to re-enact his week-long flight through the area following the slayings.

Police Chief John Tompkins, of Upper Merion township, charged at the hearing that Hanley was taking amnesia in an effort to balk the investigation.

The investigation stemmed from a series of general alarm fires in Lancaster, causing several million dollars damage since January 1.

Survivor Tells Of Plane Crash

Examining Board Studies Testimony In Plane Tragedy At Reading On July 11

READING, Pa., July 31.—(INS)—Civil Aeronautics Board examiners today studied testimony that an "electric fire" filled the cabin and cockpit of the Constellation airliner "Star of Lisbon" just before it crashed near Reading on July 11.

A vivid description of the crash ship's last moments came from Capt. Richard P. Brown, of Alexandria, Va., pilot and sole survivor of the crash which took the lives of five men on a routine training flight.

In a statement read at the board hearing, Brown testified that the fire started in the rear of the plane and smoke which swirled through the cabin hampered control of the plane.

The pilot declared that smoke pouring from an open cockpit door may have led eye-witnesses to believe that a right engine of the craft was afire. Findings of the inquiry may determine the fate of $30 million worth of the four-engine Constellation grounded by the CAB since the crash.

Supreme Court and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law; but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

The President shall have the Power to fill all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions which shall expire at the end of their next Session.

Section 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress Information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene Both Houses, or either of them, and in the Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper; he shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers; he shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed, and shall Commission all the officers of the United States.

Section 4. The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

The method described in Section 1 of Article II of choosing the President and Vice President was not satisfactory and on December 12th, 1803 an Amendment was proposed to the legislatures of the several States by the Eighth Congress and was declared to have been ratified in a proclamation by the Secretary of State, September 25th, 1804. It was ratified by twelve of the seventeen States.

The added title of the President—Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, was set forth in Section 2. This title was held up before the Armed Forces of the United States in World War II by the President himself and much was said about it but the President is still the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy.

The power conferred upon the President to nominate and appoint with the advice and consent of the Senate, Ambassadors, Ministers, Consuls, Judges of the Supreme Court and all other officers of the United States is provided for in this Section, even to the filling of the vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate. The use of this power has caused the President to be constantly importuned by members of Congress and others to appoint that or the other man to this, that and the other office.

The appointments recommended by the President are usually confirmed. However, sometimes they are not and he has to send in the appointment of somebody else to the Senate. It will be remembered that President Roosevelt's appointment of Mr. Flynn as Ambassador to Great Britain was not confirmed by the Senate.

The Annual Message of the President to the state of the Union is provided for in Section 3. He is specifically ordered to make this annual message. Recent Presidents have appeared personally before the House of Representatives and the Senate, in joint session, and have read this message. And it will be observed that under certain circumstances, if the President can adjourn as well as call an extraordinary session of both Houses.

Section 3 also imposes upon the President the duty of seeing that the laws of the United States shall be faithfully executed.

Good Taste

By Francine Markel
BRIDE WITH ESTRANGED PARENTS

"My problem concerns the proper wording of my wedding announcements. I was married five weeks ago. Our plans were rather sudden and we had only our immediate families attend. My parents have been separated for several years. During the past two years, I have not seen my father although we correspond regularly and exchange greeting and gifts at Christmas and birthdays. My father knows of my marriage but because of its suddenness did not attend. In view of these circumstances, should my announcements read: Mrs. John Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Mary Jones. Also must the date of marriage be mentioned, since it occurred so long ago?"

Answer: Unless there is such bitterness between your parents that your mother will not have her name coupled with his, your father's name should also appear on your wedding announcements. The fact that they are not divorced and that neither has remarried, plus the fact that you correspond with him makes it entirely proper for you to include his name.

If there is great bitterness and you don't care how much you hurt him, you may have your mother alone announce your marriage. Her name, however, is still Mrs. John Jones and as such it should appear on your announcements. The date should be mentioned regardless of the time that has elapsed since your marriage.

Question: My home is very small but my lawn is attractive and spacious. Please advise me how to go about giving a bridal shower out there. May the entire party take place on the lawn or should gifts be presented indoors and refreshments be served indoors also?

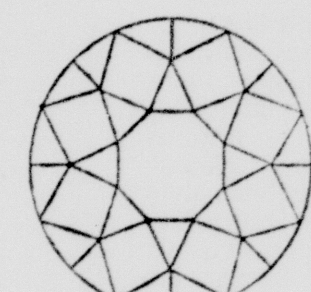

Answer: If you have a lovely lawn with sufficient privacy, that would be an ideal place to give a shower, provided of course the weather is ideal. You may have your entire party on your lawn with a table on which to stack the gifts, in addition to another table holding your refreshments. And of course a sufficient number of chairs to seat your guests.

If you have a tea-shower, serve tea (hot or iced), tea sandwiches and cakes. If it takes place in the late afternoon or early evening, serve a buffet supper of cold cuts, a salad, rolls and beverage.

BAKERY STRIKE THREAT
PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—(INS)—Union officials today pondered a compromise wage increase offered to avert a strike set for midnight tonight against eight large baking companies in Philadelphia and Norristown.

The baking concerns offered the 2,000 inside production workers a pay rise of 16 cents an hour, compared with the 30-cent boost demanded by the AFL Bakery Workers Union.

Two of the largest bakeries in the area, the General and Continental companies, would be affected by the projected stoppage.

Radio-Telephone Survey Is Being Conducted Here

Bell Telephone Company Is Conducting Inquiry Into Need For Mobile Service

Samuel P. Finch and J. Harry Dobbins, representing the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, have arrived here to conduct a survey on the need for mobile radio-telephone service in this city.

This service is being introduced in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia this month, and if the need for it is shown, here, it will also be put into service in New Castle at an early date.

Under this service, telephones are placed on the dashboards of motor vehicles, making it possible for drivers to place and receive telephone calls without leaving their cars.

The unit is powered by the automobile battery. The equipment consists of a small radio set and a single antenna for transmitting and receiving messages. The driver, wishing to place a call, signals the nearest receiving station, by pressing the button of his telephone instrument. A mobile service operator answers by radio and establishes a wire connection with the called telephone. Calls can be placed similarly between telephones in homes and offices, and moving vehicles. An audible as well as a light signal informs the driver of the call.

Strive To Prevent Dock Foremen Tieup

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—(INS)—

Intervention of Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach increased hopes today for a postponement of a strike of Pacific coast dock foremen scheduled to start at one minute after midnight tonight.

Schwelienbach requested that the dock foremen put off action pending a ruling by the national labor relations board on their dispute with the Pacific Coast Waterfront Employers' Association.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, CIO, claim jurisdiction over the 1,000 coast foremen but employers have refused to recognize their claim.

A.F.L. And Truman Breach Widens

Decision To Rotate American Representation To I.L.O. Displeasing To A.F.L.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—The breach between the A.F.L. and the Truman administration widened today over a decision to rotate American representation to meetings of the International labor office between the A.F.L. and CIO.

Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwelienbach informed the A.F.L. a few days ago that a CIO man will be the American ILO labor delegate this year—that the post no longer will be exclusively the A.F.L.'s. The next ILO meeting is in Montreal in September.

The federation, it was learned, has written a vicious letter of protest to President Truman and refuses to accept the decision unless it can be shown that the CIO is "more representative" of American labor or has more members than the A.F.L.

If the decision is allowed to stand, the A.F.L. plans further action on the matter at its executive council meeting in Chicago August 12. A majority of the council, once friendly to President Roosevelt, now is regarded by labor observers as anti-Truman.

Relations between the A.F.L. and the Labor Department and the White House have cooled noticeably in recent months. A.F.L. President William Green is believed to have prevented an open break.

AFL leaders charge that Schwelienbach is pro-CIO. Their feud with the Labor Department began when the secretary turned over to Assistant Secretary John W. Gibson, a former CIO official, the major administrative functions of the department. This post too was formerly filled by the A.F.L.

Minneapolis Polio Epidemic Spreads

MINNEAPOLIS, July 31.—(INS)—The Minneapolis area today recorded seven additional deaths and 62 new cases of infantile paralysis.

The current epidemic has cost 41 lives and stricken 415 persons throughout Minnesota.

Swimming pools were closed and few children were on the streets as the rapidly spreading epidemic put Minneapolis in voluntary quarantine.

MUST NOW GET INTO POLITICS IS OPINION OF RETURNED VETS

DENVER.—It was more than six months ago, on the train between Washington and New York, that the atomic scientist said it: "We don't have any choice left," he said slowly.

"We have to get into politics now. It's a strange vocation for some of us—very strange. We've always avoided it before. But now we either get into politics and help control atomic energy or it will destroy."

Three months later, young Opie Shelton, red-headed ex-air force captain, said it in Meridian, Miss. but for a different cause.

Get Into Politics

"We're coming back into civilian life, worrying about the standard of living, upset about labor and management troubles and griping about the laws that seem to intensify those troubles, but sooner or later, we're all going to learn that in order to do something about our problems, we're going to have to get into politics. Therein lies the only solution for the social and economic problems of the South."

A couple of days ago, James (Buss) Coffman, another ex-pilot, repeated the chorus here in Denver. And he too spoke for reasons apart from those previously listed.

"We can't blame congress for our price problems if we have any sense of fairness," he said.

Only Ourselves to Blame

"We have only ourselves to blame. Trouble with most of us is that we're not paying enough attention to what's going on in Washington and the world. And we're not doing anything about the things we think are wrong. We're gradually learning one thing. The average citizen is going to have to get into politics."

If that doesn't give you an idea concerning a major trend in recent months, then you can add the public appeal of Gene Cervi, writing a guest editorial in the Denver Post the other day.

In four words, Cervi's plea was: "Mister, get into politics."

The scientist was one of the young geniuses who helped develop the first atom bomb. Previously he had lived in a world apart from politics, but now he was frightened.

Reporter Before War

Opie had been a reporter before the war and like many newsmen, had sneered at politics, but working to improve conditions in a small southern city through the chamber of commerce, he saw politics as his only hope.

Buzz is a filling-station attendant who at first didn't counsel politics with the fact that his rent costs him half his income each month. Now he does.

Gene Cervi, on the other hand, is chairman of the Colorado Democratic central committee—a professional politician—and the very nature of his appeal to the generally listless public underscores the strength of the "get into politics" movement today.

World's "White Hope"

The majority of appeals was uncontroversial. "We are to be snatched from the horror of atomic warfare—certain to blot out civilization if it comes—only the politicians can save us," said politician Gene, adding in a burst of frankness that "It's a dismal outlook."

He went on to say what others have been repeating to this reporter across the country—namely, that the United States government is the world's "white hope" against atomic catastrophe and that all citizens had better pick their party and get into politics to help strengthen that government "to be destroyed."

It is indeed a strange spectacle to see a party politician begging the disorganized and unpredictable non-voting public—usually the bane of his existence—to get in the fight.

What's behind it?

Cervi, known in these parts as a right smart lad, didn't say. But you might try this guess for size: He's talked to plenty of formerly listless taxpayers, too, and could be he's seen the trend. Could be he knows that—invited or not—they're coming to the election party this fall in unprecedented drives. Could be he thinks by asking them first, maybe they'll play on his team. Could be a lot of Washington politicians would be wise to watch that trend. When enough people get into politics, machines sometimes break down.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—

OPA Chief Paul Porter said today that he expected to place new ceilings on cotton textiles and goods made from them before the end of the week.

Porter, testifying before the senate agricultural committee, pointed out that increased ceilings already have been placed on some items of men's clothing, and added that he thought all major cotton items would be covered "by the middle or end of next week."

KILLED BY AUTO

SOMERSET, Pa., July 31.—(INS)—S. V. Jameson, 55-year-old Toledo, O. trucker (549 Jarvis street) was killed instantly near Somerset today when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the Pennsylvania turnpike. Police said Morris Norkowit, Bronx, N. Y., was the driver of the car.

Bride Reunited With Husband At Vets Hospital

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—

Separated the day after their wedding, pretty Mrs. Geraldine White, 24, and her wounded veteran husband, Loyal Allen White, 26, were reunited Tuesday at Kingsbridge veterans hospital, Bronx.

They had been apart since March 7 when her husband became ill in their New Castle, Pa., home and was removed to the hospital for an operation on an old wound received when he served with field artillery overseas.

The expenses of Mrs. White's trip were paid by the Greater New York chapter, 126, of the Order of the Purple Heart.

Commander Charles C. Sapp, head of the chapter, said it had voted to pay all expenses for members of veterans' families who are financially unable to visit them in hospitals away from home.

White also was among the 21 recipients of bedside radios presented wounded veterans by the chapter.

The five names most generally given to boys in the United States are John, William, James, Charles, and George. Approximately one-fourth of all the male citizens of this country bear one of these names.

Surplus Sales Report Is Made

Acting Secretary Of State Acheson Says Surplus War Property Being Sold

BILLION DOLLAR SALES OVERSEAS

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Acting Secretary of State Acheson reported to Congress that the United States will receive a return of more than a billion dollars through sales of surplus war property overseas which cost three billion 600 million dollars when new.

Acheson in transmitting the quarterly report of Foreign Liquidation Commissioner Thomas B. McCabe praised the work of the FLC as an "outstanding achievement."

He declared: "The results obtained represent a real return for American taxpayers, as well as furnishing a substantial contribution to the rehabilitation of a war-torn world."

M McCabe's report asserted that "despite rumors to the contrary" no wanton destruction or abandonment of property had been found. The FLC commissioner noted:

Cause Of Rumors

"It has almost invariably been the case that these rumors originated as a result of scrapping, demilitarization of lethal combat material and other purposeful destructions for legitimate causes which have been misinterpreted by those not fully informed as to the reasons for the actions taken."

M McCabe said that surplus property abandoned through May 31, 1946, represented an original cost of 390 million dollars.

He pointed out that most of the property affected had a very high original cost and little or no civilian utility and cited as examples the Stilwell road from China to Burma and the aid-to-Russia road in Iran and Iraq, which together cost more than 215 million dollars.

Surplus Planes Sold

The report disclosed that 3,769 surplus airplanes have been sold or leased to foreign air lines, governments, and individuals. Of these aircraft, 2,407 were twin and four-engine transports. The report stated: "There are virtually no passenger or cargo airlines in the world today which are not operating either entirely or in part with American surplus equipment."

Acheson pointed out that the three billion 600 million dollar total, which includes 148 million dollars in non-representative transfers to UNRRA, represents almost half of the salable overseas surplus and approximately two-thirds of the amount which has been declared to the FLC.

The overall total of property already declared and still to be declared surplus was estimated at nine billion 500 million dollars, of which somewhere between seven and eight billions will be salable.

Trade Concessions

The report explained that the U. S. Government, in addition to selling surplus for cash dollars, foreign currencies, foreign buildings and under credit arrangements, has negotiated a number of trade concessions, commercial and civil aviation agreements, cancellation of claims and agreements providing cultural exchanges.

It was pointed out that more than twice as much property was sold in the April-June period as in the entire period from the beginning of operations through March 31.

The report said the sharp rise in sales was due largely to bulk sales to France and India.

The breakdown of total sales to date showed: Foreign governments, 78 per cent; UNRRA, 12 per cent; foreign nationals, 5 per cent; U. S. government agencies and to veterans and service personnel, 3 per cent; all other sales, including those to charitable organizations, 2 per cent.

Missing Woman's Case Develops Another Angle

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., July 31.—(INS)—The strange disappearance of Mrs. Barbara Walker, young mother, drew even more involved today after she telephoned her family in Maine she "was safe and well in Sacramento, Calif."

A check disclosed she was not at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Greggs in Sacramento as she had told her family.

Reputation of her telephone message left Mrs. Walker's whereabouts shrouded by as great a mystery as on the day she disappeared from North Conway in a hoax kidnapping during a picnic at Echo Lake.

Keen disappointment and bewilderment rapidly followed at the home of Barbara's mother and sister when they learned the missing girl's story of being with friends in Sacramento was denied by the Greggs family.

Only four months earlier, they were elated to hear her voice on a long distance call informing them of the supposed end of her wanderings.

"I am safe and well. Staying at the Greggs. Langdon knows everything. A letter will follow." This was the gist of her brief call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Baker in Harrison, Me. Barbara's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Bemis is staying with the Baker family and caring for Lanny, the two-year-old son of Barbara and Langdon Walker. Mrs. Baker is a sister of Barbara.

It is customary to think of sheep with wool and goats with hair, but the bighorn sheep has hair, and the mountain goat has an undercoat of the world's finest wool.

To Begin Battle For Service Vote

Both Parties In State To Seek To Corral Huge Vote Of Former Servicemen

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—Reports that both Republican and Democratic chiefs are planning to inaugurate campaigns shortly to capture the votes of Pennsylvania's 900,000 former service men and women have been circulating in Capitol Hill. The drives were expected to be intensified early in October. Both state-wide tickets include two men who served in the armed forces during World War II. Gov. Edward Martin, a retired major general, commanded Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division in the early part of the war while Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, of Lancaster, led the division's 110th Infantry Regiment during the Battle of the Bulge.

On the Democratic ticket, John S. Rice, of Gettysburg, a former colonel in the U. S. Army Air Forces, is the gubernatorial nominee. Former Marine Corps hero, Sgt. Al Schmid, of Philadelphia, is the Democratic nominee for secretary of internal affairs. Schmid was blinded on Guadalcanal in 1942. Some Democrats believe that Schmid may lead the Democratic ticket because "G. I.'s won't vote for brass."

The defeat of two well-known U. S. senators—a Republican and a Democrat—at primary elections in Minnesota and Montana have boosted the hopes of G. O. P. leaders that Gov. Edward Martin may be able to unseat U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey in November. Some chiefs have interpreted the unseating of U. S. Sens. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., and Henrik Shipstead (R) Minn., as a trend to "toss out the ins."

Campaigns to persuade more women to participate in politics were expected to be carried out this fall by the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women and its Democratic counterpart. Some feminine leaders have contended that the votes of the large bloc of housewives could swing an election. It was also expected that bids would be made to have more women seek public office. At the present time only four women are included among the 258 Pennsylvania lawmakers. No women represent Pennsylvania in congress.

Although the general assembly will not convene for five months, many organizations and civic groups have begun mapping their legislative programs for presentation to lawmakers for their consideration. Most organizations, however, were not expected to complete their programs before the end of the year.

The State Game Commission has reported that 13 lecturers were cooperating with the agency in explaining the commonwealth's conservation program to schools and youth groups. In addition, 18 motion picture films featuring conservation and wildlife topics were available for showing to civic and youth groups. Most of the films were in color and the 16mm. type, the department added.

The U. S. War Assets Administration has published a small booklet explaining how to purchase surplus government property and where. Surplus property, the booklet pointed out, included "almost every kind of property you can think of—from baskets to bombers, from toothpicks to tanks." The pamphlet showed that W. A. A. branch offices were located at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and veteran certification centers at Erie, Scranton, Reading, Allentown, and Harrisburg.

The Department of Forests and Waters has emphasized that campers and picknickers should be careful with fires while in wooded areas. State foresters have adopted a new slogan: "A burning forest is a burning shame; remember the ember."

CLIPPING SMALL GRAIN STUBBLE OFTEN ADVISABLE

The amount of straw left on the field and the time when the clipping is done will determine whether the clipping of stubble fields after harvest is a good practice.

Clipping may have a beneficial or a detrimental effect on the legume seeding. If one of the principal reasons for growing small grain is to get clover started, then the success of the legume should get primary consideration.

An experiment in clipping where a combine was used is worth considering. Clipping the stubble at once and removing it along with the straw and the largest weed of clover, alfalfa and timothy hay the next year, as well as the cleanest hay.

Where the straw was raked off and the stubble not clipped the hay yield was practically the same, but the hay contained 27 per cent of straw or stubble. Where the stubble was clipped and both stubble and straw left on the field the hay crop was reduced slightly, but the hay contained 5 per cent straw. Poorest results were noted where the stubble was not raked or clipped. Here the yield of clean hay was down 38 per cent, nearly half a ton per acre. The hay contained 132 per cent straw.

Receive Word Of Death Of Former Resident Of City

Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. James W. Carson of the death of Joseph Bingham, formerly an engineer with the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania Railroad in New Castle. Mr. Bingham died in Indianapolis, Ind., on June 27. He is survived by his widow, a son, Joseph Jr., and a daughter, Elsie, who have returned to their former home at 2309 Oakwood road, Harrisburg.

Mario DeCerberio Made Corporal

Mario J. DeCerberio, 1505 South Jefferson street, son of Mrs. Carmela DeCerberio, has been promoted to the grade of corporal recently at Erlangen, Germany, headquarters of the 40th Bomb Wing.

Corporal DeCerberio, who has been overseas since December, 1945, is a lab printer. Prior to entering the army, in April, 1945, he was a student at the local high school.

RECORD WHEAT CROP FORSEEN IN W. VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 31.—(INS)—West Virginia farmers this year will yield a near record crop of wheat per acre, the federal-state crop reporting service disclosed.

The services forecast a wheat yield of 18 bushels to the acre, half a bushel above last year and nearly three bushels above a 10-year average.

An increase in corn, oats, barley and rye also was forecast.

A bumper crop of potatoes was predicted despite the killing of many patches by blight. A yield of 105 bushels to the acre was forecast against 90 bushels last year.

However, production of tobacco, soybean and hay will be slightly under last year, the service reported.

The Pacific end of the Panama Canal is about 27 miles farther east than the Atlantic end.

Many Hazards Face Voyagers Going To Moon

Astronomer Says Trip To Bleak Body Would Entail Many Difficulties
To Surmount

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—
Take it from an astronomer, a rocket trip to the moon shouldn't happen to a dog.

Father Francis J. Heyden of the Georgetown University astronomical observatory today warned all prospective inter-planetary rocketeers to be sure to pack their woolies, thermostats, oxygen masks and food before taking off into space.

He indicated that if the travelers happened to be immortal and impervious to discomfort like superman it would help too.

Father Heyden's remarks were brought about by the talk of rockets trips to the moon which has sprung up in the past few months. He said:
"During an eclipse the temperature on the moon has been known to change from plus 160 degrees
Fahrenheit to minus 110 degrees Fahrenheit. There has been know-to be a change in temperature within a 400 degree range.

Little Atmosphere
"There is little or no atmosphere on the moon so people traveling in rockets would have to bring their own oxygen. There is no animal life so they would have to bring their own food. Canned fish would be best, I think."

Father Heyden, who spends long periods of time looking at the moon through an enormously powerful telescope, said that the moon's topography is also a discouraging proposition. He explained:
"It is very mountainous. The mountains on the moon are higher than any we have on the earth and the craters are levelier."

"To land on the moon the rocket would have to circle around awhile and gradually slow down. It would not do at all to hit the moon head-on."

Father Heyden said that he personally had never seen any people on the moon and never expected to see any. He said, however, that if rocketeers encountered any human life "moon men might have more civilization than we have."

Doubtful Of Life
He made it clear, however, that he would be surprised if the explorers could scare up a fourth for bridge on the moon.

The astronomer noted that although he is no expert on rockets it appears from scientists' calculations that it would take a rocket as large as the Empire State building to get to the moon and negotiate the trip back. He added:
"Even if the rocket had enough fuel for the round trip there is the possibility that it would not clear the pull of gravity and would fall ker-plunk on the earth again."

Leesburg Area To Hear Rev. Gamble

Rev. William Gamble, of this city, former pastor of the Peoples Mission, Sampson street, and now evangelist for the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will begin a special series of meetings at the Drake
Gospel Tabernacle, near No. 2 Mines, in the Leesburg area, on Sunday, August 4, continuing through August 18.

The services, which are to start

Swing Lobby Group Wants Large Crowd At Benefit Dance

Receipts From Friday Night Dance
At Park Will Go To Project Fund

Seeking to aid the other projects included in the Mayor's recreation program, the young members of the recreation committee are planning to turn over the receipts from the Friday night Swing Lobby to the recreation project fund, recreation chairman, Cecil Suber, stated today.

To increase this donation the youngsters are working for an exceptionally large attendance at the dance, which will be at the pavilion in Cascade Park from 7:30 until 11 o'clock. Anyone who ever attended Swing Lobby or the Thursday evening dances for the elderly groups of working girls and fellows and the young married crowd may also attend this dance.

Besides the recreation center activities, the other projects on the program are the swimming pool and the ice skating pond. Chairmen of the committee planning the benefit dance are Russell Lewis and Chuck Biasucci.

Knotty Problem Is Untangled To Reunite Couple

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—(INS)—
A former soldier and his bride were together again in Portland today after Federal Judge Paul Mc-Cormick had untied a knotty immigration problem.

The bride, Mrs. Helen Boniss, was held in Seattle by immigration authorities because her mother was Japanese. Her father was German, and she is the divorcee wife of a Swedish citizen.

Immigration officials ruled that she could not enter the United States because she was half Japanese, even though she claimed the Swedish nationality of her former husband.

The veteran, John Boniss of Portland, went to court, and his lawyer argued successfully that regardless of her mother's nationality, she is entitled to enter the United States as the wife of a United States citizen formerly in the armed forces.

The couple met in Osaka, Japan, last November when Boniss was in the Army Medical Corps and his bride was an interpreter for American troops. They were married on the Stetson Victory, which sailed from Yokohama in May.

Carelessness, Showing-Off Are Drowning Causes

Red Cross Warns That Showing Off In Front Of Girl Friend
Isn't So Smart

Hey, you in the bathing suit!
Haven't you heard that the greatest cause of drownings among non-swimmers is stepping into a hole or going into water that's too deep, or, in surf bathing, getting swept off balance by a wave?

And another thing—showing off is one of the most frequent causes of drowning among novices. Especially among young male novices.
It's a fact that ten males drown for every woman who is a water casualty. Eleven hundred boys and young men drown every year, trying to demonstrate their superiority to the rules of common sense.

An exhausted swimmer can drown, however, whether he's good or bad.
You should, from the very beginning, acquire and practice the habit of rhythmic and correct breathing and bear in mind that your body buoyancy, coupled with the momentum of swimming, is enough to keep you afloat. Then you can use all of your stroking movements in propelling yourself along, and you can also acquire the essential habit of resting and relaxing your muscles between strokes.

Before you even learn to swim,
though, you have to learn to float.
It's just as important as swimming and if you do it properly, it has the added advantage of requiring no effort.

If you aren't too sure of yourself in the water, or if you can't even do the dog paddle, the local Red Cross chapter is offering courses you would be interested in. Both swimming classes and classes in life savings are on the schedule. You can get information about these courses from the Red Cross chapter house or from water safety chairman, Arthur Alexander.

And in the meantime, watch your step there!

Anti-Poll Tax Measure Cloture Coming To Vote

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—
The Senate will act today for the third time in six years on a cloture petition limiting debate on the anti-poll tax bill.

Opponents of the highly controversial legislation predicted that cloture will be rejected, as it was on two previous attempts to invoke it.
In 1942 and 1944, when it failed to muster even a majority vote. Two-thirds of those present and voting must support cloture before debate can be limited. The Senate will vote shortly after one p. m. (EST).

With an eye on adjournment sine die Friday, the date already selected by the House, Majority Leader
Barkley filed the cloture petition
Monday before the perennial fil-buster of senators had a chance to get their way. The petition was signed by 28 senators, 12 more than necessary.

Duff, Republican candidate for governor will be the principal speaker, and in addition State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, National Committeeman Mason Owlett and Congressman Louis E. Graham will be heard.

IMPROMPTU RODEO

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—(INS)—Patrolmen staged an impromptu rodeo with red cars to corral three trucks which broke out of a truck en route to a slaughtering house in Philadelphia.

Beaver Valley Youths Held

Two Said To Have Entered Building, Annoyed Residents, Made False Claim

Walter Shields, Monaca, and Allan Sullivan, New Brighton youths, were held for further investigation at the city detective bureau today following an alleged escapade in South street at 2:35 a. m. today.

They entered a building, annoyed the occupants and according to the testimony of a young married woman, Allen reportedly alleged he was a constable from Beaver Falls.

Acting Mayor Albert Hoyland ordered them held pending a full inquiry as to their activities while in this city.

Lightning Hits Home In Croton

City firemen were called to the home of C. C. Monico, of 419 Butz street, early Tuesday evening, when lightning struck the chimney of the home, and followed the chimney down through the roof, breaking off several two-by-fours. Damage of around $100 was estimated to have been done by the bolt.

No fire followed the occurrence, however, and the services of the department were not needed.

TO HALT POLLUTION

HARRISBURG, July 31.—(INS)—The sanitary water board announced today the approval of plans of the Franklin Oil Corp., near Franklin, for the construction of water treatment facilities.

Secretary of Health Harry W. Weest, chairman, said oil separators have been in use at the refinery for some time but that they were inadequate for the proper treatment of industrial wastes and caused "a certain degree of pollution of French creek."

Weest reported that the refinery had made arrangements to replace fish killed by ammonia which had been dumped on land near the company and flowed into French creek.

Report Chinese Reds Driven Into Flooded Lake Area

NANKING, July 31.—(INS)—A government spokesman reported in Nanking today that Communist troops in Northern Kiangsu Province have been driven back into the flooded lake area at least seventy miles north of Nanking.

The spokesman, Information Minister Peng Hsueh Pai, said government forces moving north from the banks of the Yangtze river captured Hsuyi, south of Hungtze lake and seventy miles from Nanking. Other government troops struck east from the Nanking-Tientsin railway and captured Shihshieh and Wuho, about one hundred miles northwest of Nanking.

Communists claimed that the government forces suffered fifty-three thousand casualties in the North Kiangsu campaign.

Peng said that owing to the "Communist offensive" and the government's "counterattacks," the government "has found it impossible to make any progress in peace talks."

Volunteer firemen of New Galilee have held the affair annually since 1929, with the exception of 1943, when the pleasure ban was in effect during the war. The affair draws hundreds annually.

Officers of the fire department are: Edward Howarth, president; A. K. Marstolt, vice president; J. Russell Wilson, secretary; J. Purdy McKean, treasurer; and Fred Jenkins, chief.

COFFEE DENIES HE TOOK $2,500 FOR 'SERVICES'

of hiring me and Olson to represent him in Washington... before he (Anderson) left he gave me the impression that he was going to give me a campaign contribution—and his friends, too."

Coffee said the conversation took place at the foot of the much-used members stairway leading from the house sergeant-at-arms office to the house floor—"not in a lonesome place."

Check Received
A few days later, Coffee said, a $2,500 check from Anderson was received by Olson and turned over to the congressman. Coffee said he used it to "replace" personal funds he spent three years earlier in his 1939 election campaign. He characterized it as a campaign "donation"—not payment for "services rendered" as claimed by the Republican contractor.

The congressman said the charges against him were "motivated in politics and saturated in political bias" stemming from the Tacoma city mayoralty race this year in which Olson defeated Anderson by a "13-to-1" margin.

Coffee explained that all he did was urge the then Brig. Gen. Brython Somervell, army quartermaster and later chief of army service forces, to give Anderson a million dollar Fort Lewis hospital construction contract because he was the qualified low bidder.

Anderson got the contract but Somervell, now president of the Koppers Co., Pittsburgh engineering firm, was unable to recall anything about the case for the committee. Somervell, in a brief appearance on the witness stand, said it was safe to assume that "no inordinate political pressure was put on me."

Washington, July 31.—Paul A. Olson, former secretary to Rep. John M. Coffee (D-Wash.), charged today that a Tacoma contractor tried to "blackmail" him last January by threatening to make public a $2,500 payment which the congressman received in 1941.

Olson told the Mead committee that Elvind Anderson, the contractor whom Coffee helped obtain a million dollar government contract in 1941, made the threat in trying to force Olson out of the Tacoma mayoralty primary this spring.

The young ex-secretary said that Anderson called him to his home last January 19 and "asked me to withdraw from the race." Anderson and Olson both were candidates for mayor in the March Tacoma primary.

Second Group Of Henry Home Kids Leaving For Camp
Four of the Margaret Henry Home children and Mrs. Lida J. Green, matron of the home, are preparing to leave Sunday for Mrs. Green's cottage on the Allegheny river, where they will spend the month of August.

Another group of youngsters are up at the cottage now with Miss Bertha Patterson, assistant matron. Among those now camping is Henry Carolina, a former corporal and veteran of two and one-half years service. Carolina lived at the home before entering service. During his time in the army, he served in the ETO.

Strong Naval Air Defense Is Needed
NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—A strong naval air defense in depth was promised today by Rear Admiral Edward C. Ewen as insurance against any attack on the United States.

The admiral, wartime skipper of the carrier Independence and now chief of the naval air reserve command, said under the program a force of 29,000 naval aviation personnel will be maintained in a state of readiness for combat.

This force, Admiral Ewen said, will be sufficient to man on 30 days notice every one of the 73 "pre-served" aircraft carriers on the navy's reserve list.

Admiral Ewen said the reserve program is now in effect at 21 air stations throughout the nation.

Despondent Woman Attempts Suicide
CHICAGO, July 31.—(INS)—Police said today that Mrs. Margaret Kaufman, 27, attempted to end her life in a leap from the eighth floor setback of a North Side hotel rather than give up her husband to another woman.

The distraught young wife survived the plunge yesterday when her body struck the hood of a parked automobile, breaking the force of the fall.

However, she suffered internal injuries and was reported in a critical condition at a hospital.

AWAIT OPINION ON NEW CLOSING TIME FOR CLUBS
PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's city councilmen today were awaiting an opinion from the city's law department before acting on a proposal to allow night clubs to remain open until 2 a. m. on Sundays.

The controversial measure was introduced by Councilman Joseph A. McArdle at the request of the Night Club Owners guild.

The present curfew for night clubs in Pittsburgh is midnight on Sunday nights but McArdle contended "people sit in clubs until all hours drinking drinks ordered before closing time."

The Pennsylvania Sabbath association and the state liquor control board were among organizations opposing the proposal, according to Council President Thomas E. Kilgallen.

GIRL INJURED IN FALL FROM TREE
Marilyn Baxter, aged 9 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Baxter, of 416 Vine street, was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment, Tuesday afternoon at 3:40 o'clock.

The little girl suffered a laceration of the left forearm about nine inches long, when she fell from a tree near her home.

Charges Mass Civil Disobedience Plan Looming In India

BOMBAY, July 31.—(INS)—Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, accused the All India Congress party today of organizing and drilling in preparation for the "launching of a mass civil disobedience struggle."

Jinnah claimed that the British cabinet mission which had been trying to formulate long range plans for an independent India, had been "cowed by Congress threats."

The Moslem league leader charged that "Congress preparation for the disobedience struggle are in full swing." He said men are being enrolled under the Congress banner, financed and sent throughout the country to seek supporters.

The Moslem league's council previously set August 16 as "direct action day" for the campaign for Pakistan—a plan for a separate Moslem state in India. The council urged its followers to close their shops, quit work and stage demonstrations.

Commenting on this, Jinnah said the resolution was not a declaration of war against anybody, explaining: "It is nothing but a statement of steps we propose to take in our own self-preservation and self-defense. We've done our best and any further initiative must come either from his majesty's government or the Congress party."

Russia Brands Austrian Move As Unfriendly
MOSCOW, July 31.—(INS)—Russia branded the Austrian government decision to nationalize German property in East Austria as an "illegal and unfriendly act" today.

The official Soviet government publication, Izvestia, commented on the nationalization law passed by the Vienna parliament on the lead of the Austrian government. Izvestia said it was "illegal and unfriendly in respect to the Allies, who will not be able to weaken their control in Austria if such a situation continues."

The Russian paper said that, according to the decision of the Berlin conference, German property in Austria should be handed to the Soviet Union as part of reparations.

Izvestia concluded by saying the "illegal" decision of the Austrian parliament should be cancelled by the Allied council.

Evatt, in demanding equality of votes for all nations represented at the conference, had in mind "the interests of certain allied countries."

He further insisted that anything along that line would not be in the interests of the conference and would serve only to undermine its prestige.

Molotov followed Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister and leader of the small nation movement. The Soviet minister, first of the big four to be heard today, warned that Evatt's proposal would lead to adoption of a three-fifths majority rule and result in confusion and special bloc domination of the conference.

The Russian spokesman said "take the case of Finland where ten countries declared war and 11 did not. A simple majority could aid the 11 nations who were not even in the war with Finland in adopting the kind of peace settlement Finland should have as against the ten nations who were at war with her."

Will Stand By Decisions
Byrnes in his opening speech to the conference had declared the United States will stand by the big four decisions, including draft of peace treaties, unless a two-thirds contrary vote is cast.

Australia's spokesman and foreign minister, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, who led the small nations revolt, declared: "There is nothing whatever about a two-thirds majority in the Potsdam or Moscow declarations. Coming at such late date, this recommendation must be given careful consideration."

Evatt warned that unless the conference reaches agreement on the recommendations to be submitted to the foreign ministers council the latter body will have nothing to discuss when the convolve ends.

He thus implied that the peace settlement work will be brought to a standstill unless the conference comes to agreement on recommendations from the floor.

AWAIT OPINION ON NEW CLOSING TIME FOR CLUBS
PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's city councilmen today were awaiting an opinion from the city's law department before acting on a proposal to allow night clubs to remain open until 2 a. m. on Sundays.

The controversial measure was introduced by Councilman Joseph A. McArdle at the request of the Night Club Owners guild.

The present curfew for night clubs in Pittsburgh is midnight on Sunday nights but McArdle contended "people sit in clubs until all hours drinking drinks ordered before closing time."

The Pennsylvania Sabbath association and the state liquor control board were among organizations opposing the proposal, according to Council President Thomas E. Kilgallen.

GIRL INJURED IN FALL FROM TREE

The little girl suffered a laceration of the left forearm about nine inches long, when she fell from a tree near her home.

Westminster Decision Gives 'Go Ahead' Sign To Afternoon Sessions

As a sufficient number of students have made application for admission to the proposed afternoon session at Westminster College to insure its success, the authorities of the college have given the green light to the program, Professor J. I. Reaney, director of extension, announced today.

About one hundred students have registered since last Thursday's "round-up" in the chapel, and applications are continuing to come in at the rate of eight or ten a day.

It is hoped that the college may be able to accommodate several hundred additional students through its afternoon program, but limitations may be imposed as the result of possible inability to secure enough properly qualified instructors, who will meet with the approval of the local and national accrediting agencies, all of which carry Westminster on their approved lists.

The afternoon session, as presently planned, will begin as class-rooms are vacated by the forenoon session groups, perhaps about 1:30 or 2:00 o'clock, and continue until all classes have been held. It is expected that these will be completed by 5:00 o'clock. Football candidates should plan to enroll in the earlier classes, so that they may get through in time for afternoon practice, which begins about 3:30.

It is expected that afternoon students will have the opportunity to participate in all extra-curricular activities of college life, if they care to do so. This was one of the determining factors in the decision of the college to carry on this additional program on the campus, instead of in off campus centers. In short, it is emphasized that college authorities hope and expect that afternoon students can participate in as much of the life of the college as can the forenoon groups.

The required laboratory periods will probably be held in the evenings. Graduate classes will continue in the evenings, as last year. Evening classes in other subjects may be arranged later, as demand for them becomes evident and teachers are available.

All persons interested in afternoon or evening classes of any nature should contact the extension department, and as the need for additional services becomes apparent, an effort will be made to render those services.

As yet Westminster is venturing on untrodden paths for a traditional liberal arts college, but she is desirous of serving adequately the constituency, and as soon as convinced of sufficient demand will venture into new ways.

Inquiries go to Director of Extension, Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.

Lions Club Has Business Session

Resolutions Of Respect To Memory Of Dr. McIlvaine Passed By Club

New Castle Lions club had a business meeting following their luncheon in The Castleton, Tuesday noon, when reports were received on club activities by King Lion Charles Lumley, this being the first business meeting under his direction.

A motion was passed that the board of directors have resolutions of respect drawn to the memory of the late Dr. John J. McIlvaine, and that a copy of the same be presented to Mrs. McIlvaine.

It was voted to suspend the noon luncheon meeting scheduled for August 13, because of the corn roast planned for Wednesday evening, August 14, at Lakewood.

Harding Thayer and Earl E. Ramsey, delegates to the International convention in Philadelphia, have returned, and will give a report on the convention later.

Named On Honor Roll At Carnegie Tech

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—Several students from New Castle and vicinity, including a veteran and his wife, have been named on the semester honor roll at Carnegie Institute of Technology recently announced by the registrar. Mention on the honor roll indicates an average of B-plus for the semester.

Jacob F. Rentz, Jr., and his wife, Suzanne Shannon Rentz, were both cited on the honor roll. They enrolled at Carnegie Tech in January of this year, the former as a freshman in electrical engineering and the latter as a junior in general studies. Rentz is a veteran continuing his education under the GI Bill of Rights, and Mrs. Rentz is a transfer student from Westminster college.

Other honor students were Peter G. Karidis, 803 Blaine street, junior in mechanical engineering, and Walter Kawa, 1507 Poplar street sophomore in chemical engineering, both veterans, and Robert E. Carr, 205 1/2 N. Walnut street, sophomore in mechanical engineering.

Rentz, Karidis and Kawa are attending the summer semester of the college of engineering and science at present.

RED CROSS GETS TROUBLE WARNING FROM WEATHER MEN

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—(INS)—Eight hundred stations of the United States weather bureau are supplying the Red Cross with advance warnings of floods, forest fire possibilities, and storm movements.

That was told to Red Cross workers in Philadelphia by Colin Herrie, national administrator for disaster service, who declared disaster death tolls have decreased because of preparedness measures and advance warnings.

The Red Cross has pointed the way to better housing conditions in many American cities, the workers were told, by supplying plans for rebuilding of storm-resistant houses and business structures following disasters.

FBI Men Probing Death Of Negroes In Monroe, Georgia

Action Is Taken Following Many Letters Protesting Mass Murder In South

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(INS)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark announced Tuesday that the FBI is carrying on a full-fledged probe of the murder of four Negroes near Monroe, Ga., and that he hopes "for an early solution."

Clark said the investigation began last Friday, "as soon as the news of the crime reached Washington." The attorney general issued a statement today he said to answer "hundreds of telegrams and letters" from all sections of the nation "deploring and protesting the recent mass murder in Monroe, Ga."

The statement continued: "The Federal Bureau of Investigation has a sufficient force of agents on hand to provide a thorough probe and the civil rights section of the Department of Justice is examining the legal and jurisdictional aspects of the case."

"The probe is being carried on in the tradition of the FBI—with dispatch, efficiency, and determination. The full facilities of the Department of Justice are behind this investigation."

"We hope for an early solution of these shocking murders. The entire record of our investigation will be made available to the governor of Georgia, if necessary, for proper action of Georgia civil authorities."

"This crime is an affront to decent Americanism. Only due process of law sustains our claim to orderly self government. I call upon all our citizens to repudiate mob rule and to assist the authorities to bring these criminals to justice."

"The lives and liberties of none of us are safe when forces of terror operate outside the laws of God and man."

New Marriage Law Is Sought

Pennsylvania Register's Association Seeks Changes In State Marriage Law

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Striking a blow for Cupid, the Registers Association of Pennsylvania asked for a brand new marriage law in the state. The old basic law passed June 23, 1885 they said at their annual convention, is "outmoded" and marriage should be made easier for a couple in love.

In a resolution approved unanimously by the 50 voting delegates at the Bellevue-Stratford, they suggested that the restriction limiting the ceremony to the county in which the license was obtained should be discarded to permit marriage anywhere in the state.

Residents of Pennsylvania should be free men, declared Ralph E. Scott, McKean county's register of wills, in seconding the motion for the resolution. "They have a right to marry anywhere."

The old 1885 law is outmoded and doesn't seem to serve any good purpose today, asserted John P. Holland, Philadelphia's register of wills, presiding at the association sessions. "It only causes a lot of trouble and confusion," said Holland.

The association will submit an official recommendation for a new bill to the 1947 legislature.

The registers have been working on the proposal since last year's convention, finding out how the judges and clerks through the state felt about it.

They found that all were in favor of a change.

Mind If We Explode a Few Fallacies?

Do you think the New York Stock Exchange buys and sells securities?

A recent poll of public opinion which we conducted showed that a surprisingly large minority does have this mistaken idea. The fact is—while some individual members of this Exchange buy and sell securities for their own account, the New York Stock Exchange itself does not buy or sell anything. It is merely a public market place... where buying and selling orders from all over the country meet.

Do you think the New York Stock Exchange makes a profit if you lose on a transaction?

This Exchange neither makes money if you lose on a transaction, nor loses money if you profit on a transaction! This institution is nothing more nor less than an association of member brokers. It derives its revenues from various fees and service charges, paid mainly by its members and by the companies whose securities are on this Exchange.

Do you think that the New York Stock Exchange sets the selling prices of securities?

This also is a mistaken idea. Security prices reflect the continuing appraisal of millions of investors—each judging in the light of his own needs, knowledge and opinion. Prices are established through open bids by buyers and open offers by sellers, then are promptly published for all the world to see.

It is the established policy of this Exchange to encourage, in every way possible, the principles of informed investment. When a company lists its securities in this market place, it agrees to report, regularly, facts necessary to a reasoned investment decision. These facts are available to the investor—there is no need to rely on tips, rumors, impulses. We urge that you make facts your guide when using the facilities we provide.

Garden Notes

After the fruits are harvested, begin to cut out old and useless canes of raspberry, blackberry and other bramble bushes.

Since rotenone is poisonous to fish and other cold-blooded animals, do not use it to kill insects on water lily pads.

Rhubarb hills should be divided and reset every seven or eight years, otherwise the plants become too thick and produce only slender stems.

Fruits of eggplant do not set unless the plants are kept growing steadily. Sometimes pinching off the ends of the branches, leaving only two or three blossoms on a branch, helps the fruits to set.

Late afternoons and early evenings are the best times to water the garden—except roses. These should never be watered later than noon.

since evening sprays on musky nights induce mildew.

Cuttings of scented geraniums rooted now and potted will make up sizable plants by winter. Cuttings taken from inside plants root easier than those from plants growing in the open.

An experimental plane without rudders, ailerons or elevators, in which the whole wing is controllable, was developed in 1945 to increase safety and ease in handling personal planes.

Dodgers Defeat Cardinals And Increase Lead

Boston Red Sox Defeat Indians As Yankees Lose

Box Sox Now Lead 12 And Half Games; Dodgers By Three And Half

EVEN PHILLIES CAN WIN THEM

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Cardinals, Cubs and Yankees have been threatening to stage big drives for a long time. But to date their threats have been stronger than their performances and so the Dodgers and the Red Sox are rolling merrily along at the top of their respective leagues.

The Red Sox today have a 12½-game margin over the Yankees and it is quite likely the Boston entry will have clinched the American league flag within five or six weeks.

Dodgers Pad Lead

The Dodgers are no such sure bet to win the bunting in their circuit but they are 3½ games ahead of the Cards and 7½ in front of the Cubs and showing not the slightest inclination to crack.

In fact, the Dodgers appear to have picked up added pitching strength in most unexpected quarters. Last night they trotted out old Rube Melton, who held the Cards to four hits and won, 2 to 1. And he had to top the Cards' ace, Howie Pollet, to do it.

A few years ago the western clubs used to come east confident that they could fatten their averages at the expense of the Braves and the Phils, especially the Phils. And they used to play before thousands of empty seats.

Phils Draw Crowds

But today they are sure of good crowds everywhere and not so sure of victory. Witness the Phils-Reds game last night where 25,419 turned out to watch the Phils, with Schoolboy Rowe operating, wallop the Reds behind Johnny Vander Meer, 8 to 4. The Cubs failed to find their usual soft touch in the Giants who beat Charley Grimm's hopefuls, 3-2, and Condy Rosen's pinch-single in the ninth.

Tigers Claw Yanks

Almost 40,000 saw Virgil Trucks fan 13 Yanks as the Tigers won, 6 to 5. Three of the eight hits made by the Yanks were homers by Henry, Keller and Robinson.

Sam Chapman's homer with two aboard featured a six-run uprising in the seventh as the Athletics trounced the White Sox 9 to 2. Jeff Heath exploded a three-run homer in the 11th inning to give the Browns a 6 to 3 decision over the Senators.

The Red Sox tamed the Indians, 4 to 0, on the three-hit pitching of Dave Ferriss.

New Bedford Alters Schedule

Due to the sudden death Tuesday of John Greenwald, one of the strong supporters of the team, New Bedford of the North County league has altered its schedule.

The game with New Wilmington, scheduled for Thursday night will be played next Monday, and the tilt with St. Margarets' slated for Friday, will probably be played next Thursday. Also the rained out game with East Brook, carded for Monday night, will be played next Wednesday.

FAIR OR FOUL

BY LAWTON CARVER

Sports Editor, International News Service

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, July 30.—A few die-hards who cherish memories of the New York Yankees as they used to be insist that the American league pennant race isn't over yet. As a matter of fact, it will take a full-scale, streamlined, atom-powered miracle to head the Boston Red Sox from here to the wire.

The book says here in small print that the Red Sox must slow up by approximately 60 percentage points and the Yankees must accelerate their speed by about 50 points for the teams to finish roughly in a tie with 100 wins apiece.

Red Sox About In

If they continue to play at their present pace, the Red Sox will finish with about 109 wins and the Yankees with a rough—and it is really rough on MacPhail's 93 victories.

This doesn't take into account what the Detroit Tigers may do in defense of their pennant, but inasmuch as they haven't done anything about it so far, nothing sensational need be expected in the immediate future—nothing good enough to put them in front at the finish.

At the moment the Yankees are 11½ games behind the Red Sox and the Tigers are two games farther back. They probably have visions of a second place finish by this time and a second for the Tigers seems far more likely than a win for the Yankees.

Yankees Miss Boat

The New York club has missed its chances to move up on the Red Sox

Razzano Boys Are Universal Clouters

Pete And Tony Razzano Help Universals In First-Half Race

The Razzano boys Pete with a batting average of .378 and Tony with an average of .328 were prominent in the Universal baseball team hitting for the first-half of the season, it was revealed today.

Another heavy hitter was S. Janacone with an average of .375 to finish second to Pete Razzano, in the first-half batting race. Parrott with an average of .338 was another commendable battler. Others high on the list were—Richards with .307 and Bullock with .303. Hill in one game hit .333 and Mickey Huff the present acting manager in one game hit .500.

In the pitching department young Eddie Stewart was tops with five wins and one defeat, followed by Peck Houston with five wins and two defeats, Richards with three wins and two defeats, Paul Morrison with two wins and no defeats and Hill with one win.

Santelli Again Decisions Pozza

Canton Light-Heavy Outpoints Ellwood Hope In Big Boxing Show Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, July 31.—(INS)—Johnny Santelli holds the voodoo sign over Billy Pozza of this town. Last night at Lincoln High school field, the Canton, O., lightweight again defeated the local puncher in the spotlight battle of the Eagles club boxing show before a crowd of some 2,500 fans.

Santelli previously stopped the Ellwood boy after Pozza had run up a 19-bout winning streak. Last night he let the local boxer do all the work and piled up points with his vicious jabbing. Although Billy made a spirited finish the nod went to the Cantonite.

Bell Has Knockout

Ike Bell, who was decided in his last outing in New Castle against Dick Cunningham of Cleveland, added new laurels to his list of victories last night when he put Johnny Randall of Youngstown into dreamland in the first round for the only k. o. of the evening.

Mike Giondo, 125 pounder from Beaver Falls, had a technical knockout over Bobby Cuneo of the same city. The fight was halted at the beginning of the second round when Cuneo's eye continued to bleed profusely.

Rocky Jones of Alliance, O., won the nod over Ollie Madison of Homestead; Rudy Flowers of Homestead defeated Marty Johnson of Monaca; and Jim Maloney of Beaver Falls took a win over George Britton of the same town.

Harris Loses

"Rip" Harris, spidery Negro lad from Youngstown, ran into a ghost in Billy Parker of Aliquippa who eluded him for the three rounds and pelted him with telling punches. A split decision went to Parker.

In the other bout of the evening, Teddy Ryan of Monaca defeated Willie Rogers of Homestead. These two boys supplanted Dick Reed of Canton and Dick Watkins of Homestead on the card.

Pirates Sale Believed Near

Attorney Charles Margiotti And Frank McKinney Two Interested Parties

PITTSBURGH, July 31.—(INS)—Charles Margiotti, Pittsburgh attorney representing a syndicate interested in purchasing the Pirate baseball team, is scheduled to meet with President William Benswanger today to further discuss the sale of the club.

Earlier Benswanger told International News Service that purchase of the ball club "could be expected any day now" to any of the half dozen interested combines or individuals.

The Buc president, however, admitted the two "hottest" prospects are Margiotti and Frank E. McKinney, part owner of the Indianapolis club of the American Association and a stockholder in the Boston Braves.

Benswanger said that both prospects have an equal chance, adding: "That doesn't mean that others are not negotiating, and it doesn't mean that we will sell now. Naturally we're interested in the one who can show us the greatest amount of money."

The Pirate president said that he discussed the purchase of the Pittsburgh National league franchise with McKinney last week.

If McKinney is the successful bidder for the team it will mean that a change will have to be made in the major league aside from Pittsburgh. He will have to dispose of his holdings in the Boston club.

Alleged Crooked Race Under Probe

Charges Filed Against Five In Connection With Tropical Park Race

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—Spencer Drayton, head of the thoroughbred racing association's protective bureau, today revealed that he had furnished the Florida state racing commission charges against three jockeys, a valet and a stableman in connection with the running of the fifth race at Tropical park last April 17.

The jockeys named were Vincenzo Nodarse, L. Lovridge, and R. Keane. The valet was James Marcum and the stable hand Tony Zakoor.

Drayton said that he and his assistants had interviewed everyone with any knowledge of the case and that their investigation had taken them to New York, Miami, Louisville, Toronto, Montreal, Detroit, Chicago, Boston and Los Angeles.

The report is now in the Florida commission's hands, and the commission is meeting in the Columbus hotel in Miami.

Johnny Chuckran, freshman football hero at Penn State two years ago, is still serving Uncle Sam in the Orient.

Tennis Stars Now Facing Opposition

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 31.—(INS)—Bill Talbot, Bob Falkenburg, Gardnar Mulloy and other favorites faced some stiff opposition in their third round matches today after coming through with more or less ease in the second round of the 56 annual Meadow Club's Invitation Tournament yesterday.

Falkenburg, the big Hollywood youngster, gave the fans a look at his terrific service in walloping Jack Tuero of New Orleans. Falkenburg is expected to reach the finals.

The new crop of tennis stars continue to make trouble for their more experienced opponents and a few upsets would not surprise anybody.

Carm DeJohn Kayos Tiger Lou Jones

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., July 31.—(INS)—Carmen DeJohn, hard-hitting Buffalo light-heavyweight, today held a knockout decision over Tiger Lou Jones of New York City in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round bout last night in Johnstown.

In the semi-windup Pete Sporti, 153, of Pittsburgh knocked out Ray Brown, 160, also of Pittsburgh, in the second round.

Size is a big factor in any football team. It will not be missing on the Villanova squad this season. At least three of the tackle candidates weigh over 225 pounds. Melvin Downey of Brooklyn, N. Y., leads the group at 240 pounds, followed by Lou Ferry of Chester, Pa., at 235 pounds. Completing the hefty trio is Tom Secherak of Swoyer, Pa., at 225 pounds.

Eric Guerin, top jockey of the Empire-A-T-Jamaica meeting, "I got a pretty good chance of riding in the Kentucky Derby next year. I've been riding two good two-year olds—Jet Pilot and I Will. Two of the best in the country. I rode Jet Pilot at Belmont and I thought he was the fastest horse I've ever been on. But I will run two miles and a half. He's a come from behind horse."

When Joe Pezelski, fleet Villanova halfback under Clipper Smith and Jordon Oliver, completed his Marine service, he returned to the Main Line to complete the final semester of his education. Joe received his degree last month and has signed to play pro football with Buffalo in the new All-America conference. But always a keen student, he plans to mix a career in accounting with his football work.

Speed is the major forte of Joe Tepsic, Brooklyn outfielder, according to his college coach, Joe Bedenk of Penn State. Bedenk thinks the Guadalcanal hero is as fast as foot as any player now in the major leagues.

Barney Ewell, who's abroad on an AAU track tour, will resume his education at Penn State in the fall.

PROTECT YOUR CAR AGAINST CORROSION

Rust is only one of several actions trying to destroy your car underhandedly. The corrosive effect of road salts and the abrasive action of flying gravel are also extremely destructive. Even in normal times it would pay to armor the underbody of your car with 3-M Underbody Protective Coating. It is a hundred times more important today when so many metal parts are irreplaceable.

Graham To Keep Office Operating After Adjournment

Congressman Wishes Public To Call Him There Instead Of At Home On Matters

Congressman Louis E. Graham announced today that following the adjournment of congress, Aug. 2, he will keep his office in the capitol open until such time as he is recalled.

The congressman wishes to ask the public to contact him at his office and not to come to his home or call him at his residence. Most of the matters which must be handled are primarily office matters. Mr. Graham stated, and due to the campaign this year, he plans to be away from home most of the time.

In order to expedite matters and assist the people of the district, the congressman asks the public to cooperate with him. Any official business should be addressed to room 1628, New House Office building, Washington, D. C. All correspondence will be given prompt and thoughtful attention, Mr. Graham added.

Charles II of England hid himself in a great oak tree to escape from Cromwell's troupers. Ten years later, when he came to the throne, he tried to form a new order of "Knights of the Royal Oak" but nothing came of it.

Portable Motors For Iron Lungs Reported Stolen

NEW YORK, July 31.—(INS)—A thief is walking around New York today carrying the power for life or death in his hands.

Sunday he broke into an automobile and stole the only two portable motors for iron lungs in the New York area.

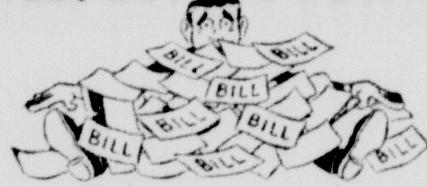

Thus he crippled one-sixth of the iron lungs available in the metropolitan district.

One of the motors was due to be shipped to Florida today to relieve a suffering child.

Harold P. Hallock, whose car was robbed, offered $50 to the thief to return the power units to the doorman of the London Terrace apartments, where he lives.

Hallock is New York distributor for the W. J. Mulliken Iron Lung Co., of Washington, D. C., which put up another $50.
